The event started at sharp 11 AM and a brief set of instructions to be followed while watching the play and a formal introduction of the play and the teachers involved in the making were briefed at the start. च से Chai is a story of three friends and typical tea-selling women representing the different elements involved in the dilemma of religious gaps in our society even after so many years of freedom. The duration of the play was 10-15 minutes and the characters were able to deliver the message well within the time frame. The event also received a great response from the audience.

In the conclusion, the introduction of the characters was done and gratitude of thanks towards the faculty and teachers was expressed by the performers.
