Various experiential activities were conducted with the guidance of Dr. Salma Seth, Convenor, and Ms. Mala Vohra Khanna, Clinical Psychologist along with the student Coordinator, Yashika. Even the events like 'World Mental Health Day' was celebrated in the college along with students from different disciplines where an activity on "Love and Kindness" was organized for the students which involved picking up a dare from a bowl of chits and had to carry it out there only. For example, one student had to dare to call her loved one and say 'I Love You'. Another student picked up a dare to buy a coffee/ tea for anyone present there. Another task was to write a positive message/ quote for the other students as their well-wishers.

"Self-talk activity" was conducted where students were shown mirrors and then asked to write under the sections 'I AM--', 'I AM GRATEFUL FOR--' and 'MY BIGGEST FEAR--', this was done to make these students know better about themselves. Another activity was "Self-love/ care" where students were asked to write down how they dealt with the physical, emotional, spiritual and social domains of self care. This was done to make the students aware about the new ways to deal with such common pressures.

Some students came forward to ask questions at the end of the workshop, too, to get a better understanding and to clear some doubts.

2. Pad Donation Drive

On the 21st April, 2023, Enactus Vivekananda College under the guidance of Dr. Sandhya Jain, Convenor and Dr. Shafaq Zareen, Faculty Coordinator organised a pad distribution drive where the team was successful in distributing a total of 200 pads among the women who are located in the slum areas of Jhilmil. We aimed to help the financially constrained communities and the underprivileged section of society to help get access to safe menstrual products who often face stigma and shame around menstruation, which leads to discrimination in the society. Due to a lack of education regarding menstruation, the younger group of girls end up missing school when their cycle begins which affects their well-being in the long run. Team Enactus VNC addressed this issue through a pad distribution drive. Our team discussed and helped in resolve the issues and the problems the women face during periods by empowering them to take control over their health and providing them with the necessary resources and support which would enable them to manage their periods with dignity.

Earlier, people used to think that some tasks are difficult for women. Women empowerment activities helps them to do such tasks. Education for women and girls can fix this problem. First, it equips them with more skills and knowledge, thus qualifying them for better jobs.
