Gandhi Smriti, formerly known as Birla House, is a museum dedicated to Mahatma Gandhi where he spent the last 144 days of his life before his assassination on 30th January, 1948 at the same location. The bus carrying the enthusiasts reached the venue at 12 noon where they were greeted and divided into two groups of 25 students each by the two tour guides. The students were first taken to the Martyr’s Column, the spot where Mahatma Gandhi was shot dead. Then the students were taken to the prayer area where Gandhiji would offer his daily prayers. The area and its walls were painted with stories from Mahatma’s life which appeared like a motion picture on Gandhi’s life. The students were then directed to the multimedia section of the museum which was prepared and designed from the funds of Indian Government in 2005. The audio-visual technologies used to portray Gandhi’s life and his teachings left an indelible mark on the psyche of the students. Later, the students were headed towards the library which showcased the books of authors Gandhiji would read and his personal belongings. The trip was very successful in many respects as the students took away many lessons home from Gandhi’s life and struggles and were left in awe of this great soul who ever walked on this earth. Students were also provided refreshment on the way.
